Successful Military Transition Case Study

Situation

Barry H. had served his country for years, the military was a way of life, all his skills and experience was centered there. But when it came to finally leaving the Army he was lost. All the questions of self-doubt surfaced, no business experience, military leadership is too inflexible, too specific a skill set, unable to transfer to a 9-5 environment.

After seeing and hearing Coach Kevin Tucker present at a military transition event Barry reached out for help.

Coach Kevin Tucker

Coach Kevin has served his country and faced the challenges of transitioning to civilian life, all while raising a family. Along with knowing how Barry's skills would transfer to the civilian sector, he provided leadership insights and language that helped him to make the connection and clearly communicate in his career tools and at interviews.

Result

After a 20 year career in the military Barry was able to make the successful transition into a logistical management role with a major freight company.

"In my transition from the military, Kevin was an true esteem builder. He encouraged me to maximize my potential. I found working with Kevin to be very helpful and enabled progress in my career." Barry H, Camp Pendleton, CA

"After a number of years in the Marine Corps, and being the top sales producer in my company, I knew there was more. But I did not have a vision for the future. I was referred to Coach Kevin and took action. With his years since retiring from the military, I was able to tap into his experience and knowledge! Now, I'm well on my way to the next steps in my career!" -Sandy R., Sales Professional, Orlando, FL

"For all of the folks who are leaving the Military fields, it is nice to have someone who knows and understands that MAJOR transition and has the access to be of great help. Kevin is amazing person and will help you get linked up and how to best make that transition as painless and amazing as it can be." -Frank V., Infrastructure Design Engineer, Phoenix, AZ

"Your contribution to the panel and the time you spent coaching our transitioning senior-level military officers, thank you. We truly appreciate your support to our program and count on professionals like yourself to assist our military members. in making a successful transition to the civilian community.” -Sharon W., Manager, Air Education and Training Command, Randolph AFB, TX
